

MICHIGAN NUT GROWERS ASSOCIATION

The Michigan Nut Growers Association, a nonprofit educational organization, was organized in 1952 to promote interest in nut-bearing trees, their products and their culture.

The three most popular nuts grown in Michigan are English (Carpathian or Persian) walnuts, chestnuts, and hazelnuts. There is also interest in black walnuts, butternuts, hickory nuts, heartnuts, pecans, buartnuts and other nuts as well as in minor fruits such as pawpaws and persimmons.

The Association meets three times per year -- Spring, Summer and Fall. The Annual Spring Meeting is held on Saturday in late March or April at Michigan State University. The Summer and Fall Meetings are usually Sunday noon potluck picnics at members' farms and plantings. Friendly interaction, lively discussion and good food help all to have an enjoyable day. The Association newsletter -- The MNGA News -- is mailed before each meeting and gives the date, location, travel directions and a map. Newsletter articles emphasize practical applications and are of interest to both beginning and experienced nut growers.
